Newly Added to the 2013 TCM Classic Film Festival

The following are descriptions of the newly added films and events lined up for the 2013 TCM Classic Film Festival:

The Twelve Chairs* (1970) – featuring an appearance by Mel Brooks

In this hilarious Mel Brooks comedy, filmed in Yugoslavia, a Russian tries desperately to locate a dozen chairs, one of which has diamonds sewn into the seat. Ron Moody, Frank Langella and Brooks himself star, with Dom DeLuise nearly stealing the film as Moody's rival.

It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World* (1963) – 50th anniversary screening sponsored by Arclight Cinemas and presented in 70mm at Arclight's Cinerama Dome, featuring appearances by Carl Reiner, Mickey Rooney, Jonathan Winters, Marvin Kaplan and Barrie Chase

Billed as "the biggest entertainment ever to rock the screen with laughter," this wacky comedy features a massive cast of Hollywood stars, including Spencer Tracy, Milton Berle, Sid Caesar, Buddy Hackett, Ethel Merman, Mickey Rooney, Dick Shawn, Phil Silvers, Terry-Thomas, Jonathan Winters, Edie Adams, Dorothy Provine, Marvin Kaplan, Barrie Chase, Jimmy Durante, Paul Ford, Peter Falk and Buster Keaton...to name a few. The story involves a race to find a buried fortune left behind by a suspect in a tuna factory robbery. Stanley Kramer directed this lavish production, which will be presented in 70mm at the Cinerama Dome, where it first premiered in 1963 to mark the theater's grand opening.

Cape Fear* (1962) – featuring an appearance by Polly Bergen

With an extraordinary Bernard Herrmann score and taut direction by J. Lee Thompson, this adaptation of John D. McDonald's novel The Executioners ranks as one of the best thrillers ever made. Gregory Peck stars as a lawyer whose family is targeted for revenge by an ex-con, played with creepy zest by Robert Mitchum. Polly Bergen stars as Peck's wife, with Lori Martin as their daughter.

The Killing* (1956) – featuring an appearance by Coleen Gray

This white-knuckle film noir put director Stanley Kubrick on the map with its story of a heist at a racetrack. The exceptional cast includes Sterling Hayden, Coleen Gray, Vince Edwards, Jay C. Flippen, Ted de Corsia, Marie Windsor and Joe Sawyer, along with particularly memorable turns by Elisha Cook and Timothy Carey.

The Ladykillers* (1955) – featuring an appearance by Essentials Jr. host Bill Hader

One of the best comedies to come out of Britain's Ealing Studios, this Alexander Mackendrick film stars Alec Guinness as the head of a bumbling gang of crooks working out of the home of an elderly woman. The terrific supporting cast includes Katie Johnson, Cecil Parker, Herbert Lom and Peter Sellers. William Rose wrote the hilarious screenplay.

Shane* (1953) – 60th anniversary screening featuring an appearance by Essentials Jr. host Bill Hader

George Stevens directed this classic western starring Alan Ladd as a former gunman who comes to the aid of a family of homesteaders. Jean Arthur (in her final film), Van Heflin and Brandon de Wilde play the family, with Jack Palance turning in a memorable performance as a particularly menacing gunslinger. Loyal Grigg's exquisite cinematography won a well-deserved Oscar.

River of No Return* (1954) – featuring an appearance by producer Stanley Rubin

The Old West is given colorful CinemaScope® treatment in this thrilling tale of a man who is abandoned in dangerous territory helping rescue a couple from a sinking raft. Robert Mitchum, Marilyn Monroe and Rory Calhoun play the trio at the center of this film inspired in part by Vittorio de Sica's The Bicycle Thief (aka Bicycle Thieves) (1948). Stanley Rubin, who experienced numerous run-ins with director Otto Preminger on the film, will be on hand to talk about its making.

The African Queen* (1951) – featuring an appearance by Theodore Bikel

This rousing adventure from director John Huston stars Humphrey Bogart in an Oscar-winning performance as the captain who agrees to ferry missionary spinster Katharine Hepburn at the outbreak of World War I. Robert Morley, Peter Bull and Theodore Bikel co-star, with a script by James Agee adapted from C.S. Forester's novel. Shot on location in the Belgian Congo, this beloved classic features stunning cinematography by Jack Cardiff.

They Live by Night* (1949) – featuring an appearance director Nicholas Ray's widow, Susan Ray

Nicholas Ray made his feature debut with this powerful story of a pair of fugitives, played by Farley Granger and Cathy O'Donnell. Howard da Silva, Helen Craig and Jay C. Flippen provide exceptional support in this film based on Edward Anderson's Thieves Like Us and produced by John Houseman. Not only did They Live by Night break ground as the model for lovers-on-the-run movies like Bonnie & Clyde (1967), it also featured the first example of a helicopter being used to film an action sequence. The Lady Vanishes* (1938) – featuring an appearance by longtime Hitchcock collaborator Norman Lloyd

Alfred Hitchcock directed this delightful mystery-thriller about the disappearance of an elderly woman during a train ride. Margaret Lockwood, Michael Redgrave, Paul Lukas, Dame May Whitty and Googie Withers star, with scene-stealing turns by Naunton Wayne and Basil Redford.

I Am Suzanne!* (1933) – introduced by Museum of Modern Art film collections manager Katie Trainor

This unique romance set in Paris centers on a pair of rival puppeteer troupes. Lilian Harvey plays the title character, with Gene Raymond and Leslie Banks co-starring. Directed by Rowland V. Lee, the film features performances by the Yale Puppeteers. Print courtesy of the Museum of Modern Art.

The Donovan Affair* (1929) – West coast premiere presented by The Film Forum's Bruce Goldstein and featuring a live soundtrack

Bruce Goldstein, creator of the award-winning repertory programming at New York's Film Forum, will present this classic whodunit directed by Frank Capra and starring Jack Holt, Dorothy Revier, William Collier Jr. and Agnes Ayres. Although The Donovan Affair was Columbia Pictures' first all-talking motion picture, the original soundtrack for the film is long lost. To make up for the missing soundtrack, Goldstein will bring together actors and sound-effects artists to create a new live soundtrack for the film. It* (1927) – featuring a live performance of the orchestral score commissioned by Photoplay Productions for the Thames Silents series, conducted by its composer, Carl Davis; introduced by Clara Bow expert David Stenn

Clara Bow gives a career-defining performance as a shop girl who uses her romantic charms to pursue her wealthy employer. This is the silent classic that cemented Bow's status as the screen's most popular naughty girl. David Stenn, author of the biography Clara Bow: Runnin' Wild, will introduce the film.

UPDATE – Tribute to Max Von Sydow

The TCM Classic Film Festival salutes two-time Oscar nominee Max von Sydow with presentations of two of his many exceptional performances. The actor will be on hand for a previously announced screening of Ingmar Bergman's iconic The Seventh Seal (1957), as well as for a newly added screening of Sydney Pollack's Three Days of the Condor (1975).

- The Seventh Seal* (1957)

The first of eleven films Max von Sydow under the direction of Swedish master Ingmar Bergman, The Seventh Seal casts him as a knight returning home from the Crusades only to find his land tormented by the Black Plague and rampant superstition. The film's depiction of the knight playing a game of chess against Death provides one of the most indelible images in cinema history. Gunnar Björnstrand, Bengt Ekerot, Nils Poppe and Bibi Andersson co-star.

- Three Days of the Condor* (1975)

Sydney Pollack's gripping political thriller stars Robert Redford as an intelligence researcher who comes back from a lunch break to find everyone in his office dead...and he's the next target. Faye Dunaway is the innocent bystander suddenly thrust into his cat-and-mouse chase. Cliff Robertson is a CIA director whose motives and loyalties may not be on the up and up. And Max Von Sydow is an imposing French assassin determined to get Redford in his crosshairs. Based on James Grady's novel Six Days of the Condor, the taut screenplay by Lorenzo Semple Jr. and David Rayfiel earned an Edgar Award from the Mystery Writers of America.
